

Lecture series Wintersemester 2021/22

Fatwa zwischen Maßstäben der Tradition & Herausforderungen der Moderne

Fatwas as a form of legal opinion and religious guidance play an important role for Muslims not only in religious discourses but also in social and epistemological ones. In these discourses the issuing of Fatwas takes a position between traditional norms and modern challenges, as Islamic jurisprudence is translated into practical and dynamic situations of the present. This topic will be addressed in our lecture series by experts in the field who will bring various perspectives to the discussion.

Donnerstags 18 – 20 Uhr (25. November 2021 – 3. Februar 2022)

Information: Die Vorträge finden nicht lokal, sondern Online statt!

Zum Link: <https://webconf.uni-osnabrueck.de/b/ire-5mt-edi-ti3>

25. November • Fatwa als Genre der islamischen Normenlehre

Dr. Mahmoud Haggag, Institut für Islamische Theologie, Universität Osnabrück

2. Dezember • The Limitations of Fatwa-Making for the Field of Islamic Bioethics

Prof. Aasim I. Padela, Institute of Health & Equity, The Medical College of Wisconsin, USA

9. Dezember • Translating Islam, Modernizing the Gulf: Shaykh 'Abd Allah b. Zayd Al Mahmud and the Presidency of Sharia Courts in 20th c. Qatar

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Alexander Caeiro, College of Islamic Studies Hamad B. Khalifa University, Katar

16. Dezember • Fatwas in Zeiten des politischen Umbruchs: Streit um die Übersetzung des Korans

Prof. Dr. Johanna Pink, Orientalisches Seminar, Albert-Ludwigs-Universität Freiburg

6. Januar • Juridical Ethics in Islamic Interpretive Jurisprudence: The Case of Empowerment of Women in Patriarchal Culture

Prof. Dr. Abdulaziz Sachedina, College of Humanities and Social Sciences, USA

13. Januar • The Theoretical Model and Trends of Ifta amongst Contemporary Shi'i Fuqaha

Dr. Ali-Reza Bhojani, School of Anthropology & Museum Ethnography, England

20. Januar • Fatwa and Politics: Peace Treaties between Israel and Arab Countries

Asst. Prof. Mostafa Hussein, University of Michigan, USA

27. Januar • Fatwa-Gebung in zeitgenössischen kollektiven fiqh-Gremien

Dr. Ahmed Gad Makhlouf, Universität Wien

3. Februar • Constraint and Flexibility in Maliki Fatwas

Assoc. Prof. Dr. Jocelyn Hendrickson, University of Alberta, Canada

IIT

INSTITUT FÜR
ISLAMISCHE
THEOLOGIE